

This document lists the various claim statuses that display in the online claims system. The list is meant to provide you with an understanding of the possible statuses that apply to claims and what those statuses mean. Please be aware that your claim may not go through every status as some statuses only apply to certain types of claims.

Note: When your claim is in a review status, you might see a change in either the “Eligibility Status Date” or the “Compensation Status Date” without seeing a corresponding change in the claim status. This change in date without a corresponding change in the claim status simply reflects that the VCF has taken some action on your claim, but the action has not changed the overall claim status. This occurs on a regular basis as your claim moves through the various steps in the review process.

This occurs while we are entering the Special Master’s determination into the system. When your claim returns to “Under Review” after being in the “Special Master Review” status, the VCF expects the decision to be entered within one week. The VCF has confirmed which claim is the correct one to process and has cancelled this claim. No further action will be taken on this claim and you cannot modify it through the online system.
